Cost of Struggle.

According to the best figures at the end of the seventh week of the strike the losses have been over $49,000,000. President Mitchell started for Chicago this afternoon, refusing to say more than that he was to attend to some local matters, and see his family. That he will see union officials from the States will see union officials from the States having the interstate agreement there is no doubt, for there is much to be done with them before the national convention on July 17. The other officials here believe he will return with the news that the opposition of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and lows has been overcome, and that they will be to line at the national convention, not necessarily to go on strike, but to do as Mychell desires.

The Census Office yesterday issued a bulletin giving the statistics of agriculture for the State of Illinois, on a daughter of the late George W. Emerson, a well-known business man of the West End, and great-granddaughter of John Emerson, and that they will be to line at the national convention, not necessarily to go on strike, but to do as Mychell desires.
